INMED ASM 2018

7-9th February 2018, University College Cork

Theme: Clinical Supervision: What works, how and why?

INMED 2018 will explore how supervisory relationships in the workplace can provide the best possible environment for learning and development whilst still meeting the requirements of running a clinical service.

The conference will feature;

- Preconference workshops on clinical teaching, educational research and educational policy
- Keynote presentations from three international experts on novel approaches to clinical supervision
- In-conference 'rapid infusion' workshops on practical teaching and research themes
- Opportunities to present new educational ideas and the outcomes of education research via oral and electronic poster presentations
- Panel discussions, student led session, networking opportunities
